THE CABLE OUTRAGE.

The cutting of the Punta Lara cable is an outrage against the whole commercial body of the River Plate, and as a deputation waited on the Minister about this matter yesterday, 'tis as well to put the affair in its proper light.

To our mind, the degree of Government responsibility in this matter is far more than mere inference. This is the second time that our most essential means of communication have been cut off by the deliberate and malicious act of, perhaps, a tipsy captain or pilot. There is no revolution to color the crime, no political conspiracy to shade the offence; and the only possible way to account for this wanton outrage is to plead the contempt of an Italian shipmaster for our civilisation, his thorough belief in our rudimentary organisation and in the utter inefficiency and powerlessness of our authorities,

The question for the public in this 'asunto' is not so much the criminality of the offender as the responsibility of the Government; and any lenient or deferential policy by the Executive now will prove but too clearly that the mariner's views were correct when, with hatchet in hand, he severed the cable, which, doubtless, he considered had no right to be in South America at all.

Think you, Mr. President, that this captain would have dared to commit this offence in St. George's Channel, or even in the Bay of Biscay? But away out here in South America his morals are different, though his passions are perhaps the same. We repeat it—the captain who enters our river and commits such an offence as that under consideration must regard us as a semi-civilised people, who have no business with telegraph cables and the like. His very crime proves but too clearly that he believes in our interiority; and it rests with the Government now to teach him, to his cost, his error.

This cable is buoyed, marked on the map, known to every pilot in the river, and guarded by every possible means that science could suggest. It is by no means an insignificant emblem of our commercial progress and national civilization; it is the very flagstaff of commerce, and rather should we exonerate this captain for having cut down the flagstaff on the top of the Capitania than pardon him for the crime which is now laid at his door.

There is always so much debateable ground whenever a commercial question is carried to the Government House that it is possible this matter will be placed before the minister as a mere private wrong, and one involving the sole question of damages between the company and the ship. If such be the result then at least let us admit that public opinion in the River Plate amounts to nothing, and that the Press is about as useful as the cable when cut in two by the ship captain's hatchet.

At the same time it must not be overlooked that this commercial outrage, perpetrated within a stone's throw of our very port, will in nothing serve our reputation abroad; not that we mean for one moment to inculpate the port authorities; but the foreign investing public that thinks proper to place money in River Plate enterprizes will naturally stare if, by next mail, the news goes home that this captain and his barque got off scot tree through an undue leniency on the part of the minister, or the impossibility of trying a man in the River Plate upon such an extraordinary charge as that of cutting a telegraph cable. A somewhat similar act was attempted in English waters some time ago, and the criminal got seven years' penal servitude.

None more than Pres. Sarmiento and his excellent Finance Minister understand the real importance of this question, which we have in nothing exaggerated. The mere payment of seven or eight thousand pounds sterling to the River Plate Telegraph Company, as the assessed damages suffered by the act, will not satisfy the commercial public of Buenos Ayres, which, in a case like the present, is and has the right to be vindictive. Fine, imprisonment and exemplary damages are demanded, not only to protect the cable for the future, but to teach the offender that his estimate of our civilization was as erroneous as his views of our effeteness were incorrect.

THE GRAN CHACO RAILWAY

As this line has the honor of being placed on the list of Railways favored by the Government with a seven per cent guarantee, and consequently with every probability af being carried out, it may be of interest to our native and foreign readers to obtain some data or information on the subject.

The first concession obtained by Messrs. Navarro and Mancilla was from the Santiago Government for a line between that town and the town of Santa Fe. This contract enjoys a concession of a league of land on either side of the rails in the province of Santiago, but none, we believe, in the province of Santa Fe. Later on Mr. Navarro acquired for himself the extension of the line from Santiago to Tucuman, a distance of some forty leagues, also with a donation of lands. Ultimately the gentlemen who have connected themselves with this great enterprize introduced an important modification, making Rosario the terminus of the road. This was done in order to obtain the large traffic of the colonies of Santa Fe, which contain a population of fifteen thousand producing inhabitants. The guarantee is on the entire line.

Starting from Rosario the line will touch San Lorenzo, and the Colony of Jesus Maria, Coronda, the capital of the Department of San Geronimo, passing through a well populated country full of rich estancias and will enter San Carlos at its southern extremity, then passing through the Colonies of San Geronimo, Esperanza, Cavour and Humboldt. From Esperanza a branch will be taken to Santa Fe, but the main line will enter what we may call a desert, but a desert with rich soil, wood and water. The line will run northerly until it reaches the lake Porongos which forms the corner of the three provinces of Cordoba, Santiago and Santa Fe. Skirting the eastern and northern shore of this lake the line will take a westerly direction, running between the river Salado and the river Dulce, which for the space of two hundred miles and as far as the town of Santiago run almost parallel with each other, and from twenty to thirty miles apart. This region is the richest part of the province, and contains a large number of estancias and country hamlets, the latter however of little importance. The principal are on the south side of the Dulce; the first is Sumampa, which is about 200 miles from the Colony of Esperanza. Between Sumampa and Santiago the distance is 120 miles, and in the interval are several small villages on either side of the Dulce and on the margin of the Salado; Loreto Silipica, on the south side, Maroma, Singasta, Chilque on the north side of the Dulce, and Doña Lorenza and Matará on the Salado, all very insignificant places, but susceptible of improvement when immigration reaches that Argentine Abyssinia. Santiago stands on the Dulce, and at this point the Salado is not more than fifteen miles distant, so that if the Salado could be made navigable a railway to Santiago would be superfluous.

The distance by rail to Santiago from Rosario by the proposed Chaco route is somewhat shorter than by the Central and Tucuman line; and to a certain but rather limited extent there will be a rivalry between the two lines. But the real feeders of the Chaco railway will be the Colonies of Santa Fe, the hides and wool of the region watered by the Dulce, and the Colonies that will be established in the rich region bounded by that river and the Salado, and which will lie very far east of the Tucuman line of Railway.

That the Chaco Railway will be for many years a drain on the National treasury there is little reason to doubt; but there is also no doubt of its opening up a very important part of the Republic, which if filled up with immigration would be one of the richest sections of the country.

The facilities for making this line of road are favorable to contractors Wood and timber abundant; and also abundance of workmen. The Santiagueños are the best laborers in the country.

AWFUL RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

FIVE KILLED—ELEVEN WOUNDED.

The mails which arrived here on Sunday morning from Montevideo brought details of one of the most shocking railway accidents that has ever taken place in South America, where such catastrophes have, up to the present, been comparatively unknown.

The Smash occurred last Saturday morning on the Central Uruguay RR, about 84 kilometres from the 25 de Agosto Station on the line to Durazno, the cause of the catastrophe being a ballast train running off the line. There was great excitement in the sister city when it became known that five navvies had been killed and eleven wounded, and the Company's Office was besieged with people who had friends or relatives amongst the labourers on the line, all anxious to know the names of the victims. The accident has caused a most painful impression at the Mount.

Our excellent colleague the Telegrafo Maritimo gives the following particulars of the catastrophe:

By Telegram.

Florida, 1 p.m.

"An up ballast train, carrying materials for the railway and over forty navvies, came in contact, about six leagues from here, with a pile of wood and stones intentionally laid across the rails. The shock threw the waggons which were first, off the line, and every man in them was flung out. The only thing known for certain as yet is that five men were killed on the spot and eleven wounded, but we are expecting the mail every moment with details."

Other accounts state that the dead and wounded were at once sent up to Montevideo. The engine—the Canelones—was not injured, strange to say. The steamer this morning will, no doubt, bring up further details of this appalling accident.

TO WOOL GROWERS

A word to the wise is generally thought to be sufficient, but in this country things often go by contraries, or can it be that our sheepfarmers have not yet attained to that state of wisdom? Be that as it may, it is certain that although year after year they are told that their wool goes from this country in such a condition that many manufacturers in Europe will not trouble themselves to look at it, much less to use it, no attempt is made at improvement. They at the same time hear that the wools of Australia and the Cape are greatly preferred, even at a relatively higher price, owing to their superior condition. Since that seems to be an undisputed fact, one might suppose that our wool growers would in all things endeavour to follow as nearly as possible in the footsteps of those of Australia and the Cape, and so far as climate and circumstances admit, endeavour to bring up their wools to the same standard.

The bulk of the Australian wool is, before being shipped, scoured, assorted and packed in bags, four of which are generally hooped together and again opened before being offered for sale. The bulk of this wool is sent to London, which is the largest and best attended market for scoured wools in the world; the wool is, consequently, competed for by buyers from all parts of the U. Kingdom and the Continent. Previous to the sale the wool is on view, and the buyers, catalogue in hand, examine the various parcels which being comparatively loose in the pack enable them to do so thoroughly, and in a reasonable time, and thus a manufacturer requiring 50 or 100 bales of a particular class, knows exactly what he is buying.

That seems to be the plan adopted with Australian wool, and is more or less the same with that from the Cape. Let us now consider the River Plate system.

As we all know, the bulk of our wools is shipped 'Dirty, Unassorted,' and in bales wighing about 1000 lbs. very tightly packed and bound with 7 hoops. I say unassorted because although wools may be divided into three or four qualities, according to the outside of a fleece, or bundle, there is no guarantee of the inside being of the same quality, and we wellknow that it is not an uncommon thing to find a common fleece inside of a good one and vice versa. This wool, or the bulk of it, is distributed between France, Belgium, Germany and England, a comparatively small quantity finding its way to the latter market, but when exposed see the Liverpool Warehouses for sale manufacturers and buyers can only in the ends and sides of bales, the 7 hoops almost preventing them getting out a handfull, and which when obtained presents perhaps a variety of qualities together with dirt, and more or less small and large burr, flechilla, &c. How is it possible for a manufacturer to purchase such wool since he cannot ascertain how much of the quality he requires may be contained in the bales he has seen? Thus competition for it is confined to jobbers &c. or if it seems to be going at a very low rate a manufacturer may buy it upon the chance of being able to work it up.

Englishmen introduced sheepfarming into Australia, and into this country also; and since those in this country see plainly that their countrymen in the home colony are ahead of them, not only in wool-growing, but in their system of preparing it for market, would it not be as well to endeavour to follow in their footsteps? Estancias are now being enclosed, and the antiquated 'puestero' system will die out, which are steps in the right direction; but much more remains to be done, and it is to the interest of the estanciero to take the initiative, for while it answers the purpose of many to prolong the present system, the honest wool-grower does not receive the legitimate or real value of his wool, which is proved by the fact that some penny-wise and pound-foolish people still insist that it pays them very well to make their fleeces as heavy as possible with dirt, grease &c., not reflecting that such dishonest doings bring discredit upon the wools of the country, and reduce their average value—for they must not think that home buyers pay for the dirt.

These remarks are induced by the perusal of Mr. Frederick Neuhaus's letter—he being the Argentine Vice-Consul in Aix-la-Chapelle—to the Minister of Foreign Affairs in Buenos Ayres.

His remarks on wool from these countries are as follow, which are well worthy the attention of sheepfarmers, who should also recollect that land in this country is now rising so very much in value that, unless something more can be got out of their sheep, the business will soon cease to be a paying one.

Paysandu, Oct. 30, 1873.

"IMPORTANT TO ESTANCIEROS.

"(From 'La Libertad,' Oct. 26, 1873.

"Mr. Frederick Neuhaus, Argentine Vice-Consul in Aix-la-Chapelle, has written a letter to the Minister of Foreign affairs, from which we extract the following regarding wool:—

"The commercial relations of the Republic with Germany, and especially with Aix-la-Chapelle and its neighbors, of increasing importance for some ten years past, have lately extended very much; they consist chiefly in cloth and woollen fabrics exported in large quantities from that neighborhood to the Argentine Republic, and in return are sent wools and hides, which are the chief exports of this country.

"As Germany receives nearly all the wools of Buenos Ayres, both dirty and washed, by the different routes of Belgium, France and England, it is not easy to state the exact amount received, but I believe it will be no exaggeration to put down the amount for the German Zolverein at about 40,000 oales per an., or say 1,300,000 arrobes, or 325,000,000 lbs. This consumption, which represents an imposing portion of the total product of the Republic, will still increase, since the wool is found suitable for the strong, soft articles which form the chief fabrics manufactured at Aix-la-Chapelle.

"The consumption of River Plate wool would still further increase were it sent to Europe in such condition as would enable it to compete with the wools of Australia and the Cape of Good Hope. Although these last named wools are of a higher price than those of Buenos Ayres, they give, on account of their better quality, greater fineness, and less loss of weight in washing, and also owing to the absence of burr etc., a result which more than compensates for the difference in price, and are consequently preferred to those of Buenos Ayres, except when these latter can be bought at a comparatively much lower rate.

"But what deteriorate the wools of Buenos Ayres more than anything else are the grass seeds and burrs which they generally contain, and which make the use of them very difficult. The different chemical processes which up to the present time have been employed for their destruction have always more or less injured the wool, and the burring and carding machines, even those of latest invention, do not thoroughly clean wool containing much burr, while they break the staple and consequently make it very short, which together with the quantity of particles of the seed which remain in it materially deteriorate the yarn and the cloth woven of it.

The wools of the shearing of 1872-3 received from Buenos Ayres contain very much burr and are in very bad condition, and the reason given for this is that the growers having of late years been accustomed to high prices have not given their flocks the same care since prices fell. It is chiefly for this reason that the wools of Buenos Ayres have in Europe suffered a greater proportionate fall in price than the wools received from Australia and the Cape.

Proprietors should above all things and by every means in their power, endeavour to obtain the best results, and to get up their wool in the best possible condition, clean and free of burr, &c. rather than aim at quantity at the expense of quality; they would certainly find it more advantageous to produce less and have that as light and clean as possible, rather than to produce much, heavy with dirt and burr.

"The wools most suitable for Germany are those from flocks of the Negretti cross; they are short and suitable for cloth; while those of the Rambouillet cross give a longer wool, which seems less suitable for our woollen manufacturers.

THE BATTLE OF LA PAZ.

La Paz, Oct. 31st. 1873

Though not having the honor of being appointed your "Special" in La Paz, I write you a short account of the taking of that town by the Blancos; being an eye-witness, I wish specially to bring to your notice the gallant behaviour of the National War-steamer Coronel Rosetti, commanded by Major Erasmo Obligado.

First allow me to explain that the town of La Paz, was commanded by Lieutenant Col. Mendez, (with about 200 Guardia Nacionales intantry and 150 cavalry), with the Coronel Rosetti anchored in front of the town.

On the morning of the 31st. I was awoke by the whir of a cannon ball and the beating to quarters on board the Rosetti, and in a moment (being an old English officer) perceived that the enemy meant mischief, having placed 2 pieces of artillery on a point of the barranca on the upper side of the town which were firing I thought with rapidity and precision, commanding both the steamer and place of embarkation, at a distance of 600 yards; afterwards placing 1 piece of artillery and a small cannon on the high bank on the lower side of the town so that the steamer and the garrison that were embarking were placed between 3 fires—a battery on each flank and the enemy in the rear.

I believe it was the intention of the Commanders to have held the town against any number up to 1,000; and by the reports of their spies were led to suppose the force that was approaching the town did not exceed that number.

At daybreak on the morning of the 31st., when Mendez found himself attaked on all sides at once and hearing the reports of the batteries which were firing on the Rosetti he knew that he was attacked by Lopez Jordan with his whole army (which I imagine to be from 2,500 to 3,000 men) and immediately ordered a retreat to earthworks on the beach protected by the guns of the Rosetti, being closely followed by the enemy both infantry and cavalry; on arriving he found the works untenable on account of the fire of the batteries on their front and rear, and the masses of infantry and cavalry on their flank. The gallant commander of the Rosetti on seeing this immediately sent all his boats to embark the troops, placing the steamer within pistol-shot of the shore.

Then followed one of the most exciting scenes, the Rosetti receiving the fire of the two batteries and the musketry of the troops; but her gallant commander was equal to the occasion, succeeding in silencing the batteries and musketry to the extent that the last launch of troops left the shore with scarcely a shot being fired at her.

The killed and wounded both on shore and aboard the steamer though numerous were comparatively few, especially on board the Rosetti, she being closely engaged for more than 2 hours, and I must congratulate the National Government on having such gallant officers and men as were on board the Rosetti, but as a naval officer I must recommend better vessels.

I have the honor to be,
Yours &c.

PARIS LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Sept. 22nd.

Henri V is certainly on the horns of a dilemma. He has to make his choice between the white flag and the tri-color, between the 'Syllabus' and Liberalism. He has over and over asserted he was nothing without his Divine Right and No Surrender principles, and he would be equally valuable were he to contradict them. The French are beginning to get their backs up at the idea of being led again to the years of grace before 1789. Comte de Chambord may make ambiguous promises, but the people would never believe in his Liberalism, after publicly cursing it all his life, now, in his desertion of the white flag, after so many times swearing to live and die under its shade. With him politics form a sort of religion. Sudden and opportune conversions are open to suspicion, for it is difficult to detach one's self from a creed in which one has lived and grown old.

The people have not the slightest intention to deliver themselves bound hand and foot to the good pleasure of the Comte de Chambord; to marry without informing themselves of the age, the disposition, the appearance and the fortune of the 'epousée,' to sign a contract without reading it, and to bestow confidence and affection with closed eyes.

The journals were only in error some weeks ago, in 'anticipating' Nélaton's death, the celebrated surgeon never entertained a moment's doubt us to the issue of his illness. Dead at only 66, so young for a celebrity! Being a passionate Greek scholar, it is not surprising that the only two books he read during the late stages of his painful malady, were the New Testament and Plato, which he called his anasthetics. On receiving his diploma he married next day a young lady, with a fortune of 70,000 fr a year; as a lecturer he was remarkable for clearness and simplicity, and all words to the point. With Heraclitus, he accorded the pre-eminence of folly to wind bags. As an operator, he was celebrated for ability, confidence, lightness, and rapidity, and more surprising, had the wonderful gift of inventing and seizing all means within reach, to achieve his end. In October 1862, he visited Garibaldi, and the operation he performed on the general's foot sealed his fame. Fifteen of the first surgeons in the world, pronounced there was no ball in the wound. By means of a stylet in Sevres porcelain, with the point a little roughed, Nélaton found the ball for the stylet was no longer white, but black from the lead; he handed the instrument to Garibaldi, who probed the wound himself, and witnessed the stylet a second time blackened. The General desired that the ball be then and there extracted, but Nelaton put off the operation till next day, when the conclave of 17 surgeons held a final council, 15 firmly deciding there was no ball in the wound, two remaining in doubt. Dr. Partridge was among the fifteen. Garibaldi then requested Nelaton to proceed, who, instead of making incisions and thus to inflame the wound, gradually opened the wound by means of cylinders made from gentian roots, and when the passage was sufficiently large the ball almost rolled out, and formed the only curiosity Nelaton retained in his study of his many celebrated operations. In 1867 he saved the life of the Prince Imperial by curing him of a disease that would speedily have carried him off; for this he was rewarded with a senatorship, the only act of his life open to discussion. The liberals of Italy since some time have collected funds to erect a statue to Nelaton in Rome.

In the matter of fashions the ladies seem to be the only objects kept in view, while the gentlemen, who as a class have more need of counsel in respect to dress, are mostly ignored. Examples, not of fops, but of well-dressed men, are daily becoming fewer — of men clothed according to Beau Brummel's idea, "so that you would pass unremarked," which is the 'fin du fin' of male toilette. There is less dressing now-a-days for dinner; modern manners excuse a gentleman for sitting down to dinner in the same costume in which he has been smoking in his club or out riding—not that colored clothes are to be tabooed from homely dinner tables, but those who can afford a change of attire and have leisure to make it ought to do so. M. Guizot, though now getting up to 90 years of age, works in his dressing-gown, but puts it aside to dress for dinner, even when alone. Jules Simon not long ago in a discourse on art, suggested that students should adopt a blouse, instead of the present close—buttoning frock, ease being only secured in amplitude. This is not exact; it is the cut, the 'fitting' in a word of a garment, that ensures ease, and if you like, grace, as it leaves all liberty of movement, wears slower, and above all, does not get out of shape no matter what attitude the body may adopt. The choice of material and color is a not less difficult matter; it is embarassing for ladies even; but like the latter, gentlemen will never err, by adopting what suits them best, rather than what may be for the moment the rage.

The weekly bill of health is both bad and good; bad, from the still elevated death-rate, 973, or an excess of 250; and good, from a decrease by 25 in the deaths from cholera, which have been 125 during seven days. Such statistics under circumstances like the present, must be taken 'cum grano salis,' as a paternal Government, from motives of affection, dislikes alarming the family. However, there are the proverbial healthfulness of the city, the ferocity brought to hear in employing precautions, and the absence of all alarm in the circles in which you move. To abstain from drinking the water of the city is the surest preservative, and also to face cholera as any other mortal enemy.

The fire-brigade in Paris, including 1 Colonel and 490 officers, numbers 1500 men; distributed in eleven barracks, and 60 'postes de garde;' the total annual expense for the maintenance of this force and its accessories is one and-a-half millions of francs, detrayed by the Municipality; the privates and non-commissioned officers' pay varies per class from 550 to 1200 francs per annum; the children of the regiment receive 11 sous per day with bread, and an increase of one sous daily for every year commencing from their eighth of age. This early service renders the fire-men of Paris veritable Leotards, as they have to practise gymnastic exercises daily, and the value of such training is evident to any visitor who has seen the small, wiry, india-rubber muscled firemen of Paris at work. It is said an American gun boat will sail wherever the ground is moist; the firemen in question climb anything slight, like cats or monkeys.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Weather permitting, the Athletic Sports come off to-day at Palermo, and we hope all will enjoy themselves at this favourite meet of the British community. The Northern Railway Company has made unexceptionable arrangements for the occasion, as will be seen on reference to its advertizements. Turkeys, chickens, hams and hampers rose in price yesterday, such was the demand for these indispensable adjuncts to a day at the Sports.

The Royal Mail steamer Douro will sail for the Brazils and Southampton on Friday next. Our Packet Edition will appear at 10 a.m. on Thursday.

There was considerable scuffling at the elections in town on Sunday. The authorities were, however, prepared to put down rioting with a strong hand, and bodies of police were stationed at all the church doors. We happened to be passing the Socorro church when a shot was fired, we could not ascertain by which side. In a moment a man was collared by the police and marched off; we also saw a tremendous knife, with a blade as broad as that of a scythe, taken from another customer who was looking about for some flesh in which to bury it. Divine service was going on at the time, and when the shot was heard it caused great commotion in the sacred edifice, the gentlemen rushing out tumultuously to see what was going on, and the ladies all turning as white as sheets, several being very near fainting. The young officer in command of the police seemed much excited and had his revolver in his hand. Everyone asks why it seems impossible to remove the seat of elections from the church doors; it is most unseemly to have such disturbances at the threshold of a place of worship.

The German Singing Society gave a concert last night at the Coliseum. The next treat in the musical way will be the concert of the Glee Club, which has been definitely arranged to come off on Saturday next, the 15th, at the same place. The programme will be published on Thursday morning.

The heat on Sunday was awful—85 Fahrt in the shadiest of the shady. There were very few pedestrians in the streets, and not as many carriages on the Palermo Road as usual. The railways and tramways did an enormous traffic.

The opera company at the Colon Theatre got a warm and hearty Farewell from the Public on Sunday evening, on closing its engagement. Madame Pozzoni received two splendid bouquets, one of them containing her name in letters formed of white roses. Signor Junca, the Basso and the tenor also received present, whill Sr. Colonnesse's legion of friends overpowered him with applause. At the fall of the curtain the four leading actors were recalled four times. The company gives a special performance to night in aid of the Damas de Beneficencia.

We referred on Sunday to the present rage for advertising which, it appears, cuts both ways. We had a most unpleasant proot of this yesterday morning when two permanent 'avisos' were temporally suspended, owing to the houses interested being cleared clean out of stock through the public reading their advertisements in this paper. Our friends Messrs. Barau and Briet, who have hit off the pleasantest and most popular way of advertizing of any house in the city, are unable to import their famous Brandy fast enough, thanks—they are kind enough to say—to the columns of the STANDARD, and other traders are in the same pleasant predicament.

The Rio Cuarto Railway inauguration party crowded the Central Station on Sunday morning. The ladies mustered in the proportion of about one to every fifteen 'caballeros,' so they are certain not to be neglected on the excursion. They had not as many bonnet boxes as we expected, and most of them wore pretty hats, reserving 'les chapeaux' for the inauguration. We publish a telegram from our brother editor in another column.

We call the attention of Mr. Lord Mayor Bunge or whoever of his subordinates is supposed to look after the vasura service to the fact that some of those clean-looking gentry whose business it is to remove the refuse from house doors in the morning refuse occasionally to do so unless the occupants pay them. A gentleman living near the Cinco Esquinas tells us that the 'vasura' of his house was left untouched at his door for two days last week because he would not pay three dollars to the Municipal cartman to remove it. This should be looked to.

Mr. Albert Phillips's recent Entertainment pleased the local British public so much that several leading families have requested him to repeat it, or rather give another. Mr. P. has consented, and the affair will come off some day next week. The principal 'hits' of the last Variety Show will be repeated, but the rest of the programme will be entirely new. Amongst the novelties will be 'The Dramatic Amateurs' and 'The Life and Adventures of Sinbad the Sailor.' The first is a screaming business, as can be surmised, and the latter is also well calculated to bring down the house. Particulars will appear in a few days.

We learn that General Julius White, U.S. Minister in this Republic, will leave for the States in the R.M.S. Douro on Friday. We are sorry to hear that His Excellency's return home is necessitated by the serious illness of a member of his family. The General expects to return to the Plate in three months' time.

The latest papers from Paris state that there were applications from no fewer than 670 representatives of the Press of all countries for seats to hear the trial of Marshal Bazaine. Of course only a select few could be accommodated, but Government short hand writers will supply notes to those left out in the cold.

The papers here and at the Mount are full of the praises of the Eucalyptus as a cure for the hooping cough. We believe its efficacy in this disease is fully established.

Letters from Rosario state that the clip has commenced in Santa Fe, and is giving satisfaction, the wool being clean and of good staple.

The murder came out on Sunday about the Indian invasion in Santa Fe. The savages have rushed into Cordoba as far as Fraile Muerto and are playing 'old Harry' with the estancias. Their first exploit was to sack a train of carts and murder seven peones. There was terrible consternation in the town when the news became known. At Junin and Rojas great alarm prevails, as there is not a serviceable horse amongst the few line troops on the frontier, and everything depends on the National Guards who are, fortunately, will mounted, and turned out at once at the call of duty. Colonel Roca and Major Lagos are after the savages, who were making Desertwards with their plunder when last seen.

A 'vigilante' had the temerity to attempt to arrest a free and enlightened citizen of the French Republic (that is if Henri Cinq has not yet been restored) on Saturday. The Frenchman did n't like it, and told the "blue" so; the latter persisted, however, and the Frenchman put both hands round his neck and held him till his eyeballs glared from the sockets and his face was as black as his boots. The poor policeman would have been 'a gone coon' in half a minute more had not some passer by made a diversion in his favour in the Gaul's rear, and forced him to change front.

We badly want the North American system of transmitting passengers' luggage adopted here. On Saturday a gentleman took tickets for self and family at Villa Nueva station on the Southern Railway for the station at Calle Venezuela. On arriving there at eight o'clock p. m., tired, thirsty and in no humour to be trifled with, our unfortunate friend discovered that part of his luggage had been left at Plaza Constitucion and the rest sent on to the Central Station. He could get neither tale nor tidings of his trunks, and finally had to walk to Plaza Constitucion and back to the Central Station before he could get them together. This little promenade cost him, between peons and other incidentals, $200 m|c. and in addition he had a pair of boots irrevocably ruined, and worse still, had to dine at midnight off a sandwitch and some cold water. Now the question is, are the Southern Railway Managers prepared to indemnify this ill-used gentleman? We appeal to Mr. Cooper's better feelings, and hope we shall never have to record a similar melancholy case about Anybody's Luggage.

There was no news from Entre Rios yesterday, though rumours of an impending wind up were again afloat everywhere. Major Mendez who scuttled out of La Paz so smartly is to be tried by court-martial for abandoning the place in face of the enemy.

There were very ugly telegrams from up the river yesterday to the effect that large quantities of arms and ammunition have been lately sent to the Upper Provinces, what for it is easy to imagine.

The French mail steamer Senegale left yesterday. She took a tolerably good mail, but there was no very particular rush to the Capitania.

Another lot of arms for Lopez Jordan has been seized at Santa Rosa. Two cannon, 2,000 rifles, and a lot of cavalry trumpets were amongst the 'materiel.'

Madame Palladini, the great Italian actress, introduced an innovation at the Olympic Theatre in Rosario last week, on her farewell night. When the curtain fell she was recalled so often and so enthusiastically that she came forward and made (Oh Siddons!) a 'pretty little speech, which 'conmovió' the audience. Of course it did, and the consequence will be that it will become the fashion for pretty actresses and prima donnas, and ugly actors and 'tenori robusti' to come forward with their hands on their hearts and 'conmover' us to that degree that we must bring bathing sheets with us to dry our eyes. We are great admirers of Madame Palladini, but her speech to the Rosarinos has set a troublesome fashion, certain to be imitated.

The R. M. S. Douro (Capt. Thwaites) arrived here on Sunday morning and was met by Messrs. Benn & Co's (the agents for R. M. S.) new steamer Belgrano. The Belgrano was formerly a paddle-boat, and has been converted into a twin screw, by Messrs. Stephens and Vonwiller. She has two engines, each of 15 horse power nominal, acting independently, which facilitates her movements. Her accommodation for passengers and luggage has not yet been equalled. Her saloon and ladies' state room are nicely fitted up. Such boats as the Belgrano have been long wanted, and we hope soon to see more of the same class, as the number of passengers arriving here still increases. The passengers with their luggage from Douro were safely landed at midday, and every one expressed their gratitude to Messrs. Benn & Co. for their constant attention, to the comfort and security of both passengers and luggage. Although the weather was rough the steamer averaged her 10 miles per hour, and her movement was scarcely perceptible.

We are indebted to a kind subscriber for a highly interesting present for our new Museum, viz. a copy of the Declaration ot Independence of the Banda Oriental, with the arms of the Republic at the head and fac-similes of the various signatures at foot. We shall be happy to show it to anyone desirous of inspecting it.

We received yesterday 3100 m|c for the Paraguayan emigrants from Mr. Otto Scharff. This money was subscribed by several of the poor 'Lincolnshire Farmers' who obtained work from the Mutual Gas Co., and thus nobly come forward to relieve their fellow victims.

We understand that the Rev. Patrick Lynch, Irish Chaplain in this city, intends to call a meeting of the Catholic residents at the church of San Roque on Sunday next, to confer with them on matters of interest to his flock.

"Leo," our late and easy going correspondent at Rosario, writes to us to say that he had the honour of sending us a line on the 25th ult., and begging to be informed if we received it. We did not, Master Leo, and when next you are in writing humour we should be glad to have another just to say what you have been doing and where the deuce you have been wandering the last four months. Looking for a wife, as usual, perhaps. As soon as you meet Miss Right let us know; we opine that you would keep more regular pens and paper if you were buckled and done for.

"SERVICIO DEL PUERTO."

United Club, Monday,
10th Oct. 1873.

To the Editors of the STANDARD,

Gentlemen,

Having occasion yesterday (Sunday) to go on board the s.s. Liebnitz, I embarked by the little steamer Jenny, and was much surprised when about half-way out to find she had been stopped by the man in charge. On enquiring the reason it appeared some of the passengers or visitors objected to pay unless they received the ticket that it is customary to give on such occasions, as without such equivalent there was no guarantee that they would be put on board the ocean-going steamer, or on return landed. The captain, I suppose I must call him, had no tickets, but after a great deal of wrangling gave each passenger a scrap of paper, acknowledging the receipt of $30 or $50 for a single or return passage, as the case might be. On this being arranged we proceeded and arrived at our destination.

On our return, when again about half way or perhaps a little more, say six miles from land, time about 9 o'clock, he actually anchored, and refused to proceed.

This stoppage occurred because our friend thought fit to collect what he was pleased to call the tickets. The passengers, one and all, objected to such a proceeding until arrival 'off the mole.' He was informed however that he was at perfect liberty to 'revisar.'

At this stage of the proceedings one of the gentlemen from the office of Messrs. Green Le Rossignol and Co. was compelled by the passengers to intertere, and on some of the tickets being delivered—not all—anchor was weighed, and we finally arrived about 9.45 p.m.

The foregoing is a very mild version of what really occurred, but the truth is vouched for.

It leads me to ask three questions—

"Are Messrs. Matti and Piera really aware what a person they have placed in charge of the Jenny?

"Do they allow their officers or men openly to insult and use improper language to their passengers (there were women on board)?

"Will they think it to their interest to look into the disgraceful management, or rather mismanagement, that took place last evening?"

If not, let me warn travellers that, if they can avoid it, never to place themselves in the hands of Messrs. Matti and Piera, unless some guarantee is given that their men are in a fit state to look to the safety, comfort and respect to which their patrons are most justly entitled.

I remain,

Dear Sirs,

Respectfully yours,

J. J. T.

Cedulas were sustained to-day, but it cost an effort. The immense difference between cash prices and for the end of the month shows pretty clearly the real state of the market. It is really a remarkable fact that Cedulas are heavier and loans on Cedulas dearer since the opening of the National Bank than before. The brokers are astonished at this, but it is harder than ever now to get money on the stock, and all the loans done to-day on Cedulas are reported at 18; when before the bank opened this description of loan ruled easy enough at 15. It would seem as if the opening of this National Bank has caused a sort of reaction in the Cedula market; holders speculated too much on the influence of this bank, and hence the market toppled over. Some large outside holders of the stock are standing by watching the moment to realize, but business for cash is next to impossible, whilst on time it is even difficult.

There is great anxiety in the ring to know the news by next steamer. People to the present are in the dark as to why the Bank rate was raised so suddenly to 6 per cent. It seems probable that the Bank board anticipated heavy withdrawals on account of new loans, and hence the rise.

The National Bank continues discounting, and the Provincial Bank has also done a very large business. The private banks are doing very little, and great complaints are made about the scarcity of money.

The sales of stocks to day were as follows—

Mr. W. Wilson jr. was welcomed on 'Change to-day on his return from Europe. During his sojourn in England he met all the River Plate men, who are all prosperous, contented and happy.

Mr. Rossi, the well known ship broker, was also welcomed on 'Change on his return from a trip to Montevideo.

There was great complaint made in commercial circles about the extraordinary conduct of the Captain of the French steamer Rivadavia, who sailed this morning at 4 a. m. for Montevideo leaving behind 350 bales, and some 2000 dry hides. The conduct of this Captain is really most inexplicable for had he waited a few hours he might have taken on all, and by starting at so early an hour he gained nothing save to remain down in Montevideo a few more hours. It is to be hoped that the owners of the steamer in Europe will be made acquainted with this affair, which necessarily causes great inconvenience to shippers.

2000 bags maize
2200 bales, all for Liverpool.

The judicial sale of the Andrada quinta at Almagro yesterday went off well. All the property at over two-thirds of the legal valuation, which averaged from 38 to 75 m|c per vara cuadrada.

To-morrow (Tuesday) Bullrich holds a great auction at Ensenada. Over 300 tickets were given out to day. The land is admirably situated, and lots out there may yet prove a fortune to the holders.

A large party of English leave in the morning for Rio Cuarto, among others Messrs Daniel Gowland, Sir J Coghlan, J Simpson, E Harry Woods, F Younger, J Marshall, J Lloyd, J Davidson, H Crabtree, M Rich, Prof. Murray, R Muir and others.

Mr. Max Terrero was welcomed to-day on his return from Europe.

Mr. Ebbeke sold at public auction yesterday the following property:—Lot 10x50 on Calle Santa Fe from 3,000 to 3,500 m|c per vara front and lots in the manzana behind from 1,160 m|c to 1,500 per vara front with 50 depth price averages $35 3 rls. per vara.

To-morrow being a holiday there will be no Bolsa before Wednesday; should the steamer enter with very important news we shall publish a bulletin.

The amortization of the Buschenthal Bonds took place on Saturday. The following were the numbers drawn—

This debt is completely off the market and in the hands of a few wealthy capitalists. During the memorable epoch last year of cheap money the stock was bought up and considered a great hit, but the real parties who made the hit were the sellers, who for the last six months have been making 15 or 18 per cent with the money.

Mr. A. Lanuz published in Sunday's Nacion another able article on the Mortgage Cedula question. The high commercial position of the writer, and the great speculation going on in the stock, enlist for the article in question an undivided attention. Still it would be just as well for the stock and the market if these newspaper articles for the present were stopped, we all know the working of the bank and its business, by the published monthly statements. If some parties take exception to the bank, the majority are decidedly in favor of it as is proved by the business the bank does. Spite of all that is urged against the bank, it is to-day the cheapest place in town to get money from, and so long as the money market is in its present state so long will this bank do a large business and stand between the property holder and the money lender. Cedulas at 65 to-day would be even cheaper for the mortgagor than to borrow money for a mere 90 days in the plaza. This is a solemn fact, and hence it is that men who hold property find the Mortgage bank a sound and excellent institution, beyond all question; it was the Mortgage bank that saved this plaza from numerous failures when the crisis began.

Last Saturday was the first day that the new National Bank notes may be said to have gained currency in this market. All the collecting clerks in town were at their wit's end with this new money, which was paid to them at importers, exportors and bank counters, and the trouble was that the largest notes out of the new currency were for only 20$fts., whilst thousands of 5, 10 and even 2½fts. were paid out. Of course this gave great trouble to the clerks for the mere work of counting; one clerk complained that he had to receive some 100,000$fts., which were all paid to him in 2$ft. bills. One can well imagine the trouble which this business gave, and however excusable it may be on the part of the bank to push off small bills first, we hope Mr. Emily Castro, who is a thorough business man and well up in the market affairs will see the necessity of this week paying out large bills, say 100 pats. and 500 pats. each. Saturday's collections told many a secret; the new bills were found in houses that it was really never supposed were looking for money, the new money was just the same as the reading of a man's pagaré. Some of the first houses in the market paid out new bills, whilst the dealers and shopkeepers paid in old specie notes and paper money, this shows how far the money market has been stretched, and the immense want which this bank meets. The whole market is now laid open to the National Bank board, and Mr. Emily Castro even as Governor of Buenos Ayres did not wield as much power as he does now as president of the National Bank.

Advices have come out by the mail announcing the appointment of Mr John Oldham as manager of the Brazilian Western Telegraph Company in the River Plate, which is the name of the new company that will by its cable and amalgamations with other companies have the complete telegraphic communication between the River Plate and Rio Janeyro, Pernambuco, Bahia, Para, and we may say Europe and the States, as all messages must come over the cables of the Brazilian Western. We salute Mr. Oldham on this new distinction, which his long services in the Plate have so justly earned; and we congratulate the Western Telegraph Company on having so able and competent a manager to represent them in the River Plate. The above arrangements have been conducted and completed by Mr. Proudfoot. Chairman of the River Plate Company, which Company now enjoys the exclusive right of transmitting all telegrams destined for Brazil, Europe, and the United States for a period of forty years.

There is a good deal said in commercial circles about the large trade sales at present going on in this market. The goods are sold at very low prices, and, owing to the great overstocking of the market, chiefly with dry goods, there is no alternative, the goods must be moved off. Whatever loss may arise from these sales will chiefly fall on the manufacturers, which is rather a lucky circumstance for this market. We have been favored with some important items touching this matter, which, however, in the general interest of the market, it is perhaps just as well should not be published. The year for imports has not proved favorable, but by far the heaviest losers are those who stepped beyond the regular routine of their trade and tried their hand at importing articles about which they knew little, and that little has secured considerable loss.

The Argentine steamer Tamesis entered port on Saturday with salvage from the wrecked English barque Express.

The following sales of prime pine were effected last week:—

Montreal cargo, 370,000 feet, at 51½ pats.
Do do 426,000 do. at 55 do.
Do do 532,000 do. at 52 do.

We notice that some pine cargoes are going up the river. On Saturday a cargo was sent up from Montevideo to Zarate.

The last papers from England speak much about a Liverpool firm having contracted for iron in the United States at £2 per ton less than it could be bought in England; also the importation of coal from the States was attracting much notice. Papers, per Thales, say that Liverpool merchants had received advices of the shipment of 3,000 tons of American coal to Liverpool. We have already noticed the new iced beef trade, which promises such splendid results that a joint stock company in London has been formed, not for the purpose of getting the beef, but for the supply of artificial ice. Meanwhile the live cattle trade between Canada and England is doing well and giving good results. This is good news for our friend Mr John Joseph Mendez, whose live cattle steamer may now be looked for hourly.

The National Bank board calls on the shareholders to assemble on the 15th of December to elect a new board of directors, the present board being only a provisional one. The shareholders could not do better than to vote the present board in for the ensuing year: they are all good men and true, and have had heavy work to open the Bank. They should be confirmed in their posts at least for another year.

The sale at the People's Park, beyond Belgrano, was the great hit of the day, on Sunday. Mr. Rodriguez, the talented auctioneer, drove out in his trap to make arrangements with Watson, whilst Mr. Wright led the buyers and their friends by the train. It was a close race, the auctioneer winning by five minutes. Time, 35 minutes. Carriages conveyed the visitors to the lake, only eight squares from the Nunez station. The sight was charming; on all sides new houses, bridges, terraces, gardens and roads, closely set with trees, which, when full grown, will give a fine shade. So charmed were many with the scene that although they went merely for the 'paseo' they bid and bought. Two squares were sold in the following order:

SAVINGS BANK
BANK MAUA AND CO.
101--Calle Cangallo--103
BUENOS AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt and appreciated in the great emporiums of the River Plate, Montevideo, and Buenos Ayres, that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Maua & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depository for their savings.

The sums deposited in that very important institution are daily increasing, and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks artisans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need sickness, or old age, instead of spending them in immoral gambling, in lotteries, and other frivolities.

The Bank of Maua & Co. of this city, following the example of their firm in Montevideo, the same facilities in this city, and has opened a Savings Bank at No. 103 Calle Cangalle from Nine a.m. till Three p.m. every day, for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned, Sundays and holidays excepted.

The Bank will deliver to each depositors a pass book, in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited; in the former case the interes will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Maua & Co. is sufficiently known to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the general welfare.

The Bank of Maua & Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighborhood.

PONTEVEDRA

IS a new Town, established in the centre of the celebrated Gahan Estancia, in Merlo not even seven leagues

WEST of this go-a-head City, and about a league and a-half from the Western Railway, South of Moron and Merlo, and

CLOSE to both of them. In either of those go-a-head Towns (they will soon be Cities), you cannot purchase a decent Plot o Building

GROUND under 30,000 Dollars CASH. In Pontevedra you can get a well-situated Building Plot of 500 Square Yards, for only

1050 DOLLARS, "ON TIME," paying for it by little and little, 70 dollars each month, for 15 months. Sites are guaranteed for Church, Schools, and

A FINE Plaza. The Land surrounding the Town of Pontevedra, all high ground is a rich, alluvial, inexhaustible, loamy soil. It

SPEAKS for itself. 20 Squares nearer to Moron you cannot buy as good for 15,000 Dollars CASH, per Manzana; while this, which is much

BETTER Land, and near Pontevedra, can be had, on time, for 3,000 Dollars per Manzana, each fronting a Road; payable by

LITTLE and Little, only 200 dollars per Month, in 15 months. If you buy Four Manzanas you get a Plot of Pontevedra, 10 by 50 yards,

FOR NOTHING. 10 Manzanas make a snug homestead, equal to about 18 English Acres; but no Land like it there; they give you a

RIGHT to Three Plots, or 30 by 50 yards of Pontevedra, that cost 3,150 Dollars by themselves,

YOU could not buy 18 Acres of one-half as good Land in any part of England under £60 per Acre; that is, £900 Cash. While here, within 21 miles of this

GREAT Commercial City, and near a Railway, you get 3 Building Plots and 18 Acres of Primest Land, for £245, on time, payable

IN 15 Monthly Instalments, of about £16 16s. 8d. There are many among us who can easily invest that sum monthly, and

MIGHT invest it worse. To go and see the Land your Carriage Fare from Merlo will be paid by Fredk. Donnehy, if you call between 10 and 5 o'clock at
